Sick Momen Attention

Is it possible there is a woman in this country who continues to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial after all the evidence that is continually being published, which proves beyond contradic-tion that this grand old medicine has relieved more suffering among women than any other one medicine in the world?

We have published in the newspapers of the United States more genuine testimonial letters than have ever been published in the interest of any other medicine for womenand every year we publish many new testimonials, all genuine and true. Here are three never before published:

From Mrs. S. T. Richmond, Providence, R. I.

PROVIDENCE, R. I .- "For the benefit of women who suffer as I have done I wish to state what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I did some heavy lifting and the doctor said it caused a displacement. I have always been weak and I overworked after my baby was born and inflammation set in, then nervous prostration, from which I did not recover until I had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. The Compound is the contraction of the compound of the Compound is the contraction of the compound of the compound is the compound of the compound of the compound is the compound of the compound of the compound is the compound of the compound of the compound of the compound is the compound of the com ham's Vegetable Compound. The Compound is my best friend and when I hear of a woman with troubles like mine I try to induce her to take your medicine."—Mrs. S. T. RICHMOND, 199 Waldo Street, Providence, R. I.

A Minister's Wife Writes:

CLOQUET, MINN.—"I have suffered very much with irregularities, pain and inflammation, but your wonderful medicine, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, has made me well and I can recommend the same to all that are troubled with these complaints."—Mrs. Jennie Akerman, c/o Rev. K. Akerman, Cloquet, Minnesota.

From Mrs. J. D. Murdoch, Quincy, Mass.

Sourh Quincy, Mass.— The doctor said that I had organic trouble and he doctored me for a long time and I did not get any relief. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised and I tried it and found relief before I had finished the first bottle. I continued taking it all through middle life and am now a strong, healthy woman and earn my own living."—Mrs. Jane D. Murdoch, 25 Gordon St., South Quincy, Mass.

Heavy Pasturing Condemned. Heavy pasturing of alfalfa is not advised. The number of animals per acre should be so regulated that two or three small cuttings of hay may be taken from the field. This is necessary to insure tender green growth for grazing. When little buds begin to shoot at the base of the stalk the alfalfa should be cut. In a very few days a fresh new growth makes its appearance. Overpasturing, without occasional cutting, also tends to injure the crowns of the plant and eventually destroys the stand.

DIRECTIONS FOR TRAINING DOGS

country have dogs. Have you ever tried to train them, beyond the throw ing of sticks for them to bring back, and a few such tricks as standing on their hind legs, or barking for something to eat?

As a boy, back in the country, I was the owner of a number of dogs, at yarious times, and until I was pretty well grown, this was usually the extent of prick any object pressed against the my training. And my friends who had ball dogs trained theirs in about the same. way. Possibly some of you have bright dogs that are canable of knowing much more than they do. If so, the following general directions, learned by experience, may be of use...

First of all, teach your dog that you mean exactly what you say, and that he must obey you. To do this, you should never give a foolish command; but if a thoughtless order be once given, even though you repent it assoon as it has escaped from your lips, do not hesitate, but insist on your pu-pil instantly obeying—that is, if the dog, in your judgment, understands the order.

Never under any circumstances al low him to shirk, and even a naturally, stupid pup will learn to look upon your. word as law and not think of disobey-

Strict obedience to your word, whistle or slightest gesture once obtained, it, is an easy matter to finish the dog's education. Bear in mind that there is, about as great a difference in the character and natural intelligence of dogs as there is in boys. Not only does this exist between the distinct varieties of dogs, but also between the different individuals of the same variety. All considerably in intelligence, amiability when your pointer comes to a point.

or make your poor dog suffer because it cannot learn as fast as some one you may know of. And let it be impressed upon your mind that to make your dog obey or to teach it the most difficult trick or feat, it is rarely necessary to use the whip. If the dog, as he will sometimes do, knowingly and willfully disobeys, the whip may be used spar

One sharp blow is generally sufficient, and it should be accompanied with a reprimand in words. Never lose your patience and beat the animal in anger. To successfully train a dog, it is necessary to place the greatest restraint upon your own feelings; for if you once give way to anger the dog will know it, and one-half your influence is lost. To be sure, the special line of education depends upon the kind of dog you have and what you want him to do. You may commence to teach the pointer or setter to "stand" at a very early age, using first a piece of meat, praising and petting him when he does well and reprimanding him when required. Do not tire your pup out; but if he does well once, let him play and sleep before trying again. As he grows older, replace the meat with a dead bird. The best sportsmen of today do not allow their dogs to rerieve, saying that the "mouthing" of he dead and bloody birds affects the fineness of their noses. To bring in birds, the sportsman has following at his heels a cocker spaniel, large poodle, or almost any kind of dog, which is taught to follow patiently and obediently until game is killed and he receives the order to "fetch."

To teach a dog to retrieve, com-

Most of you boys who live in the any dog will chase a ball, and very soon learn to bring it to his master When you have taught your dog to 'fetch," he may be tried with game. It is very probable that the first birds he brings will be badly "mouthed"-that is, bitten and mangled. To break him of this; prepare a ball of yarn so wound over pins that the slightest pressure will cause the points to protrude and > After the dog has pricked his mouth once or twice with this ball, he will learn to pick it up and carry it in the most delicate manner. He may then be tried again with a bird. This time he will probably bring it to you without so much as rumpling a feather; but if, notwithstanding his experience with the ball of pins, your dog still mouths" the game, you must skin a ird and arrange the ball and pins in side the skin so as to prick sharply ipon a light pressure. Make a dog fetch" the bird skin until he is com-pletely broken of his bad habit of biting or "mouthing" game.

> With pointers and setters, at first you will have to give your commands by word of mouth; but if you accompany each command by an appropriate gesture, the pup will soon learn to un-derstand and obey the slightest mo-tion of the hand or head. The less noise there is, the greater the chance for game. Nothing is more unsports manlike than shouting in a loud voice to your dog while in the field.

After teaching a dog to "heel," "doubs charge," and to "hie on" at command, you may show him game and teach him to "quarter" his ground by moving yourself in the direction Newfoundlands possess similar char- you wish the tog to go. It is well for you to understand this softly, "Steady," by steady, "at the fact, that you may not be disappointed same time holding up your hand. In course of time the words may be omit-ted; the hand raised as a caution will keep the dog steady; but should he break hoint and flush the game, as a young dog is more than liable to, you may give him the whip and at the came time use some appropriate words that the dog will remember. The next time the words without the whip will

> After your dog has been taught to obey, it is well to put him in the field with an old, well-trained dog.

As every sportsman has a peculiar system of his own for breaking a dog, it is scarcely necessary to give more than these few hints; only let me caution you once more against using the whip too often. Spare the lash and keep a good stock of patience on hand. Otherwise in breaking the dog you will also break his spirit and have a mean, treacherous animal that will slink and cringe at your slightest look, but seldom obey you when he thinks he is out of reach of the dreaded whip.

CHILDREN SHOULD NOT WEEP

Wise Man Says to Cry on Any Day In Week Is Bad-Rules No Good for Older Boys and Girls.

There are millions of children in the world who want to do just the right thing and the very best thing; but they do not always know what just the right thing is, and sometimes they cannot tell the very best thing from the very worst thing. Now I have often thought that there are children who cry, now and then, at the wrong time; and I have asked many of the older people, but none of them could tell me the best time to

But the other day I met a man older and wiser than any of the rest. He was very old and very wise, and he told me:

It is bad luck to cry on Monday. To cry on Tuesday makes the eyes

Crying on Wednesday is bad for children's heads, and for the heads of older people.

is the canal of life but it becomes a sewer if clogged up. All life consists of building up and tearing down and just in the same manner that the blood carries to the various parts of the body the food that the cells need for building up, so it is compelled to carry away the waste material that's torn down. These waste materials are poisonous and destroy us unless the liver and kidneys are stimulated into refreshed and vigorous life.
